Summary: A full guide to the meaning of life, with both the scientific and

With many searching for the meaning of life and what we are here for, people have been researching this since I was 8 years old and now have almost finished. Although I have read many religious books; the answer is only partially explained. One of the main reasons comes from science, yet has been overlooked by evolution. It was created, as many things don't make logical sense, from an evolutionary perspective. It includes why there is a mathematical formula within atomic structure. With atoms and these also have a structure. Now if the universe did come from a big bang, it is possible, even after millions of years; as they say. As for all of this to be created, the chances are immeasurable, as what would happen is atoms would maybe be chaotic and we wouldn't be able to define it mathematically, as it would be chaotic, now that occurs on the smallest level of existence.

The next part is having explained the fabric of the universe has a system. This also then applies to life itself; this may seem obvious, yet we are not. You see since the universe was created, what were we made for? Well if you think that plants got watered, and to move water from place to another. you would need water. Have you ever thought why do you leak? You need to drink 8-9 pints a day. Well you can say to clean your system out, yet why if everything was created as a system, do we need to leak? You would think that when we were created we need this and self contain the water we need. Even in the whole idea of evolution evolved from a sea creature. Which is the reason why, yet if this was the case evolved to have self contained water. Well here is the bit that makes it a bit different. We don't just eat and drink to take the energy out of it; our bodies convert the energy from plants. Plants need nitrates and phosphates to grow; our waste we put out as nitrates and phosphates; manure is compost.

I once saw a documentary how the jungle functions, and how energy is recycled. When leaves fall from the trees. These leaves are then eaten by creatures, the energy is then semi turned into soil. Then a smaller creature eats this and this again the process continues until the original leaf has become soil. The energy of the soil is then absorbed by a fungus. Then at the very end of the process, it showed how there is a microorganism that absorbs this energy. Then the trees join to this fungus and take the energy from the soil. The tree uses this energy and grows new leaves; so the whole process makes a cycle. A scientist to say this evolved is preposterous, as this whole process works as a cycle. It is accounted for so no energy is lost and each level of the process gets what it is supposed to be part of this circle of life as well.

Another documentary I saw, on how the jungle is not such a chaotic mess. It happens is there are bogs; which contain high mineral content, large animals and a meeting place and for mineral rich food. As they walk from one bog to the next trees. As they walk between bogs; this is gotten rid of as waste, with the the waste. Now the waste contains nitrates and phosphates, which act as the seed. These then grow along these path ways; through the jungle bet jungle has roads connecting these bogs together with fruit trees growing Can you understand what this means? If we lived the same as originally; the Bible, that we eat the seed bearing plants; the whole of the world co As we climb the fruit trees to collect fruit, we break the old branches; so soil and continue this circle of life.

There are many parts to this whole circle as well, we breathe out carbon to grow, plants breathe out oxygen which we need it to breathe; a perfect Now this system is extremely resistant to change, yet it is also is very fi discovering as the worlds climate changes. One major reason for this and trees hold a lot of water. As we chop down the trees for wood; the seari the trees is released. We also chop down large forest areas for grazing l does not contain the same amount of water, as a tree would.

If you look at any animal that is designed to eat meat; it has large canin bodies find it hard to absorb meat. Especially the proteins contained in r proteins, yet we need to eat more of them. At the moment due to the fact fruit trees as we could; the cost of living on fruit is high. Yet if we all d we fit into the circle of life and just ate fruit the whole earth, could be a everywhere. There would be no starvation and problems with the climate all take part in this and by simply eating the fruit and distributing new s enough. Also trees produce ozone and so the climate would readjust its s would be fixed.

Now what is the meaning of life then, now I have established a purpose f system of nature! We can begin to look at the religious side of things, as existence on a whole. We are here to learn about Oneness, as I have jus works in a complete circle "O", as the name Oneness suggests. Heaven is Christ parables he refers to the harvest and vine yard, the earth doesn't spirit. Yet also farming the world, when it says we are given dominion ov means to look after, as a king would; if he has a kingdom.

Now why create something, just too simply exist, we have children to con As how can people be tested and given the chance to learn, what it mean without? How can we begin to understand the essence of God, without be in making a new life between us? Growing nature and understanding the l of this, of the feelings involved in the success of something you have ma teaching it wisdom as God has done with us.

There is no devil as such; apposed to God as God made all and sees all. is creator of everything how would a force apposed to God make it self. I made like God; with the ability to create.

The devil is within man, a better way to describe this is EGO. As oppose as the two are opposite. This is also the difference between heaven and heaven is Oneness, learning to live as one with all. Ego is learning to m and to be only concerned with what matters to ones self. The best saying good of many out weighs the good of one". The whole essence of what I Christ says "on earth as it is in heaven" means to live in oneness; as he can have peace and contentment as at the moment the ego we are produc worse and destroying what God has made. Not that the devil is causing a our stubbornness to accept, that we are part of the great circle of life ar actions.

We need nature like a baby needs its mother, when in the womb. The two connection the baby dies. This will be the same with us soon, as without disrupt this connection, the harder we make it for our self's; like when a cord. A lot of times, if something isn't done the baby dies as it starves. all of us to do so! As we are all children in our mother's womb i.e. mother within what I am saying, we enter the real part of the universe and the s take too much from the mother, eventually help her and become part of o Those who take too much can kill the mother in the process of birth, and they didn't live at one with the mother.

Oneness is the same here, as it is in heaven; heaven has different levels unconditional love for all, people who have made it there, have realised that God is the father and center of the family. That no matter where people are; you should love them as God does. This means Helping and giving to family and children i.e. Oneness (one us). Originally this was far easier most mammals still do, in tribes where everyone leaned on each other. This as you would be taking from your own family; if you did so. This is still part of life and something all of us are searching for with out really knowing what family, we feel content being surrounded by love; just giving and not working way of heaven. Now when people understand this within this life they make eternal life. Without knowing this there is no way in as heaven is perfect self can enter heaven, as it would disrupt the entire balance.

Now I hope you can see from what I am describing this too can be achieved. stands in the way of this is ego, yet through love ego can be dissolved. As we make to protect our selves. Yet when we have unity and love there is no many people don't know that ego produces ego and ego is hell. A large cause self righteousness as this is a form of ego. So those with this won't be able are producing more ego here as it can cause an opposite reaction. Telling and how good you are; doesn't cause them to change for the better most and so the person protects them selves by making there own ego. The way change is through example by showing unconditional love to someone; this especially when they are already hurt and feel in the dark. The person that as they see it as something warm and so they learn to adept it into themselves reiterating the principles of many great teachers, Buddha, Yeshua to name what heaven is, so you can see the purpose of what they were saying. This brings me on to the next level of enlightenment in heaven, the place teachers reside. This level is wisdom, yet not wisdom to be above others like a father with its child. The only way to teach a child properly is through teachers have encompassed unconditional love in all senses, and given up helping people. First with there basic human needs above all and next to its like with a child; you don't shout instructions to get it to do something level and explain in a way they will understand. This is the final level of reached it; and even fewer, even know it is there.

So here you have the meaning of life, lets not destroy what has been made our egos bigger. We all can take part in it, everyone can plant trees, and unconditional love to others. Everyone can tend to nature and this world was; before our egos spoiled it.

On earth as it is in Heaven!

Amen
