reincarnation... I've done rebirthing class and the memories that I had were just in my head. the visions of places and the emotions felt were unexplained on this earth to learn lessons. I don't believe a Creator would put us here to learn the lessons do we get thrown the trash, a creation of the Creator? happen. so I believe that we come back to learn the lesson we passed up. lesson do you think we go to heaven and play harp? I don't believe so. like our Creator? This is a big Universe. Lots still to learn. What does it gives you a diferant perspective to look at it in a differant way. Take care

Yes, we are here to learn lessons, that is all existence is. Without learn Stagnancy is non existence. The first thing we differ on here is the creator just that... only the creator(the big bang, the universe, etc. He is not an the starter of all things, therefore he is all things that come after, you first create me. My parents did through making love. I'm afraid I also do not believe afterlife. Heaven is a metaphor for what we can have here while we live. but first we must all come to accept that... otherwise we will live life only afterlife... and we will never live life just for the beauty of life. which is misunderstanding. Make heaven now and here... there is one lesson right heart tells me :) No re-incarnation. Only complete randomization.. and our fault if we don't succeed, not the creators. We need to stop looking for a Succeed! We cannot continue waiting for some fairy tale-next life... do it

Exactly.. we know nothing about this universe. Accept that and live like a Re-evaluate and start from scratch. No preconceived notions. I hope we diem. Take control. Everytime we fail we have someone to blame, or someone never look at ourselves. It's all within us.
