Crystal Children...

You will know me by my deep, penetrating, large eyes, filled with a wisdom gaze and draw you forever into my hypnotic song.

Most of us are still under the age of nine, now reaching ten. We will delight your soul with happiness. We will teach you of a forgiveness you have lost.

We are the new light workers here to positively guide you and give you rest. For you see we are to walk with you through this shift, radiant with love.

There are those crystal scouts who came ahead, laying the foundation for me 29 as I speak. I am one such scout, my name is Angie. We do share some characteristics as the indigo's, yet we are unique in our own ways. As crystal children we are with bliss and unusually even tempered. You can not help but recognize our presence. You will feel certain you are in the presence of an angel.

Indigo's are trail-blazers! Did that catch you off guard? They cleared the way for us in and secure the shift. Isn't it cool? We think it is.

As a crystal child, I am not a warrior. Indigos have a warrior spirit and a tenacity that can not be stopped easily.

May I speak?

My daughter, the warrior indigo refers to herself as a fire goddess. I just heard her saying. I see her blazing path! It is not one you'd want to get in the way of. She is only 12 years old. At 12 she has already accomplished so many leadership tasks. She is heading it up, an important decision she is making it, a gathering council meeting among the 7 brothers and she will make the final call. Competition you know you win! She can tell you exactly what she will be doing in twenty years. Growing up with so many brothers, she is not one even most adults wish to disagree with. She will not win, unless she allows them to believe they have. It's all in her eyes. So lovely to behold. You have got to love the balance in that. Thank you. Please.

I plead with anyone who can hear this do not medicate us. I am Sam. We are here because some uninformed person told you it was best? I do not understand. Do not take the light from us, we are very sensitive, wonderful children of God. Do not allow society to drain our very life force.

Who then will guide the way? I have seen it done again and again to my surprise.

as having autism or Asperger's syndrome, this saddens me for it is often a challenge you as the adult to step up to the plate and change your beliefs, your community school, and your global community, just begin the process and be involved. It can be done. Consider for a moment what this is really the bigger picture yet? I simply ask you to pause and look within, gain understanding of what I have brought to you. We deserve a chance to serve as did you. Please when you can. Mom will you be there for me? Mr. will you?

Have you seen me? Many of you can you know...I am very beautiful, made of opalescent auras, pastel with a prism effect. Perhaps you simply thought I was with your eyes the first time. I like being crystal! Another give away if you see is to watch for me, for I am drawn to collecting crystals and rocks from the laundry, for no doubt my pockets will be filled with treasures.

Many of us have personalities that are magnetic and we are highly affected by those near us. Do you need a hug? I have plenty to share as do my friends. Have we reached out as little ones and hugged you? For us this is our way, unless someone has shamed us into going against our nature. No one needed to teach us to love, we will teach us to withhold such love.

Many sing before they are talking and are late with speaking all together, singing lyrics before I could spell my own name. This is because telepathy is a natural form of communication for us. We long for someone to converse with. Some of us were born with parents who can communicate in such ways. It may not amaze you to know we talk to spirit guides, angels, and about past lives readily from the moment they are born, you think they have been speaking with? So silly! In silence much has been shared, not have been aware is all, much like you are not aware really of what is hidden in the tree in the middle of a cold winter, yet it blooms every Spring. Inside many of us is a special place.

Nature will find a way.

We are highly sensitive empaths connected to animals and nature and we seek stimulation from a very young age. As natural healers reaching out and helping others, we seek to bring peace and wholeness to every situation, person and place. It comes easily to us. We thrive in environments that inspire and develop our natural talents, producing music, pictures, designs, even things of the past and future brought to us to you, are you paying attention...listening, observing, getting involved?

A crystal child often requires a special diet and prefers natural vegetarianism. Food sensitivities and allergies quickly if given an improper diet. This is true for all of us. Angie? Yeah, it's true.

The most amazing thing shared among us is our fearlessness. I love doing stunts, skateboard from the ramp, I just pray and flip. In my heart I know I will land safely for the jump I would. Yet sometimes convincing a watchful Mom isn't so easy, but my inner peace too!

Most of us are climbers too. We were the babies who escaped our cribs and on a whole new meaning for us! We love long hikes in natural settings. We recognized by the fact we are rather acrobatic and never keep our feet on rather we are standing on our strong hands, up in the air and sure we can have an amazing sense of balance and inner peace.

Enough for today. Dreamtime sounds good to us right now...

Love, angie and sam
