Enjoy... understand... please. When you can view the world and the human responsibility becomes yours, and so do the problems. You are one, a part of the human species.

It'll be here soon... in the meantime, let's continue to work our magic on the world around us by giving them not only a positive example, but also a message. Now is the time to be stronger and more determined than ever. You know change happen. Take full bloom... Both the planetary and evolutionary Spirit. Now is the time to show your many wonderful colors to your friends, your family, well. :) Take up peaceful arms... the war rages.

You all seem to know the problems of the civilization pretty well. You all know the bloodlines have power. You all state excuse after excuse, when the true problem is the people of the world themselves... I do not agree to disagree. What I want is an answer and the problem... the act of ignorance in the people who need to be informed about... the people of the world, you and me. Start today because tomorrow is not all, because it's all you have. Don't let your life go to waste in the chase. We ARE the New World Order. Embrace each other... create heaven on Earth. We have the potential... my words just stated it. Now let's take the actions. There are no failures and failure.

I can finally see it all coming together now.. my soul rests peacefully and the new world everyone... It approaches quickly. Now the rest of you Indigos and children must continue your works, not just at home, but worldwide. Be the example I wish to see... be that positive example, be that caretaker and the one they need. These feats are not limited to Indigos and Crystals... anyone and everyone can do the hardest as well. Lead by example, make change come about, don't be afraid. Time will pass you by. Make it worth while. Time is cruel and impatient. Move forward with your actions.
