Next is fear

You see goats if they don't know what to do will charge you, as I am often on the net. (Quite funny really when you understand it in that perspective)

Sheep on the other hand are more respectful and will back away, yes I am the same to begin, and have times where sheep will come and goats won't

So I best define it some more....

You see if you sit still and patiently with a sheep, it will slowly approach you, a goat sometimes...

The difference comes if a harsh reality moment comes to either..

A goat will flip they will but things and go mad gnashing their teeth and banging of the window with them and seems there blood boils.

Now sheep on the other hand will run in fear if you alarm them and often get a shock.

Yet also sheep are easier and can then be tamed due to fear, goats won't know best.

Yet on saying that some goats also get them self's out of a mess when they are on the mountain side on there own.

Even if the farmer does try to stop them they are that daft, they go higher

At least with a sheep if it knows you it can be lulled softly into safety..
