Faith is not a stubborn belief in what you hold as true, but knowing that

There can be no one true faith. For faith is based on your reality and reality is objective.

I only know of one truth, the rule of harmony which states: There are many things that interact with each other to create a harmonic motion, which is existence. To take complete control all would cease to exist.

As you see, without diversity there is no harmony, without harmony there is no life.

The only faith that makes sense to me, is one of optimism. That is real. Specific faith is only a stubbornness and only leads to closed mindedness.

There is only one Goddess. She is the mother of mutation, for if anyone is not natural, then they have no idea of how nature works, for She is always true.
