Why would a benevolent God create a reality wherein men are allowed to seemingly go unpunished, children suffer and die while others sit on the sidelines with only one answer.

It is all part of a lesson we will never forget. That freedom and bread go hand in hand together. For we will never be willing to share equally between them.

In the end, there will be two choices, freedom from authority or unconditional love, choose them both.

Children don't always listen, sometimes they need to find out for themselves the hard way.
