The first thing to remember is that we are souls. God is another soul which therefore he is beyond the physical laws and beyond dualism. As souls we experience of life. In this life we express our unique roles and we experience. This is the "meaning" of life. To be able to express and experience.

This life is an eternally predestined drama. We are therefore actors, we everytime we take a body, according to our actions. Every soul has different role, just like actors in a movie. Some are fitted for some roles more than recorded all the roles which come "alive" the minute we are conscient of is the key word. The record will play according to time. In the physical dualism, ying-yang, or reciprocity. We know what happiness is because we We forget because we can remember. There was a moment in history which "paradise", "atlantis", "lemuria", etc... which existed on earth. A time, we conscious. Now humans are body conscious, in other words, we moved from we moved from happiness into suffering (wars, disease, premature death, attachment, etc).. we are moving back again into the other side, meaning role is to remind us who we are, to remind us that due to this dualism, we age and we need to be aware of this. There is God who is a soul, beyond the "Drama". Things like "miracles" are fixed in this drama; however nothing through them. There is no Knowledge of God, no knowledge of who we are eternal predestined drama. "Miracles" happen and we forget about them. something divine after all; however soon we usually go back into the "rat forget our experience. This is the drama of forgetting and remembering, happiness and suffering, day and night. We are immortal beings having a physical custome but ignoring our true nature. We become attached to our suffer. We don't learn, we remember. Everything is recorded in the soul. times, and we will again. For eternity.
