Isn't it funny in today's world, that you can do almost anything to an extreme level just by doing it..

Like be a pro-> Surfer, DJ, Chess player, Custard maker etc...

So never feel a Job is for life, work is to live and do what you enjoy doing. Do it well enough and to an extreme level, so other people see it as cool and do it...

Its like our politicians should be on war games on the PC (they would love it) and figures...

Then they could leave us alone and make rules for games only they want to play.

Yet you never know, they could be a real in-depth game with loads of boring and complicated rules to them.....

Yet someone would buy them as they would be so extreme...
