Did you know that Cannabis is one of the only plants in nature, where it is both male and feminine, most plants don't....

Could some evolutionist please explain how this can happen under Darwin's theory?

Will include that in most spiritual books globally, it informs us of it being a sacred plant.

Something doesn't fit....Which is it?

How or why would any plant develop the ability to be consumed by humans? If we consume it does it affect our organs?
