Plural religions causes divisions; yet originally people tried to create a group of people could live in unity.

Then as societies separated, different religious values were ascribed to people have fought against each other over their systems of society.

Yet if we all choose to be less bigoted, and read each others systems, w wisdoms involved; yet government has become our major religion, creatin doesn't educate its self in the wisdoms of the past.

Then government portrays charismatic leaders like a cult would, and bec themselves in religion, they don't realize this has happened many times.
