the hardest part about all of this is speaking out... 'cause then people say it is no such thing... yet, then again... what the bleep do you know? hehe I'm not imagining things, i felt what i felt, and i saw what i saw. You have to put on a different mindset to even achieve this... or at least for me. Just go outside, close your eyes and lay in the grass... feel it, look at it, closely, taste it.. appear to be a totally different person, and feel extremely different within minutes. I've been to this universe. Look we still can't even get past judging each other over our beliefs of that realm for a while.. this whole planet is acting silly.
