Hey Wiz, wats up? Your right about those conservative sites. It took me a while to accept me. Once I told them about Ufos and the third eye and chakras and I was a witch, and said I needed Jesus. So I would confess Yashua as my savior and that stuff. Some got very hostile, never accepting me, while a few others accepted me, but with reservations I am sure. Its sad wat has happened to them. These people are trapped, and dont know it!

You certianly made a site for me, and others like me. Praise God for that!

Its interesting about words. I read once where ancient languages were used and words have meanings. Languages are not math based anymore, except for math. Words and language seem to have come under assault, to controll the masses. In America, our language was noun based, which put the power into the people. The courts controlled the courts and judicial systems. They changed the language and destroyed the noun based language. This put the courts and judicial system in control, judge, and took it away from the people. They did this just by changing fiction.

If ya know how to do it, you can still go to court and use noun based language. bench themdselfes and not hear the case, if ya do that. Judges take school language, but it is not taught to common people. Most dont know about it anymore. I cant believe how things can change like this, and take the power away from the people. There are a lot of forces against us. But we serve a mighty God, who will "rejoice" in that. They are not going to win....Later Wizanda...peace
