I am sorry 1st, when the tsunami happened at that exact same time, I had something like that. The reason being wasn't for death, yet for people to be in nature as well. I did ask for it to be in Israel, as I find the fighting wanted it to stop. God granted this prayer and the tsunami hit, I don't know the only thing left standing was the churches. The problem though is people are no longer in the hand of God. The chances of the tsunami happening at that time are staggering; also that many other disasters have happened due to the same positive that yes, God granted it. Sorry, sorry, sorry again to all people who were affected. God let it happen.

I now try and not to pray for things like that, as I don't like suffering of the world to stand up and listen for once, instead of thinking they know it all.
